Fear Growing That Capt. Ulm And Companions Will Not Be Found

SEARCH CONTINUES AROUND ISLANDS

Not Single Clue Has Been Found As To Whereabouts Of Plane

HONOLULU, T. H., Dec. 6—If Capt. Charles T. P. Ulm's own estimation of the floating ability of his monoplane, "Star of Australia' is correct, the grim "deadline" for those searching for it probably will come today.

When Ulm forced to alight in his gasless plane on some unknown spot in the Pacifific Tuesday near Honolulu, he radioed that the "Star of Australia" could float for 48 hours.

At 9:28 this morning (11:58 a. m. PST) the 48 hours alloted his ill-starred airship, will expire.

Navy and Army planes, which made another fruitless search for Ulm and his two companions, Navigator J. A. Skilling and co-pilot G. M. Littlejohn, yesterday, were to soar into the air again this morning.

Fear Mounts

As the dramatic hunt neared a climax, fear mounted hourly for the safety of the three British airmen who had hoped to establish a feasible commercial airplane between California and Australia, by way of

To Resume Drive On Autoists Here

Chief of Police John Haven has issued orders to police to resume arresting all persons who speed automobiles here, he declared today.

Furthermore, autoists who drive by street cars while passengers are boarding and being discharged will be taken into custody.

"It is evident that some autoists have not yet decided to obey ordinances of the city which pertain to the operation of automobiles," the chief said.

"Last night while I was on a street car en route home I saw several automobiles not only being speeded, but also driven to the left of street cars while they were unloading passengers.

"Not all of the autoists break the law. There are many who obey the law, drive sanely and have given us co-operation. It is the speeder and man who deliberately breaks the auto laws we plan to arrest," he concluded.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Alderman H. G. Coates, in conversation with Pa Newc, spoke of the district in New Castle which at one time was referred to as "Walton.' How many of the older citizens know where that district was? On the North Hill, east side of Highland, from the present location of Sheridan avenue north, Squire Coates will tell you.

The schoolyard of the Lincoln-Garfield school, and surrounding alleys, remind one of the summer months. On Wednesday noon, Young Pa Newc counted 25 youngsters enjoying a game of marbles.

This morning while Pa Newc was enroute to work he was stopped and given the information that W. G. McKee of Neshannock avenue, Henry Hamilton of Mahoningtown, and Jim Bill, Neshannock avenue, have returned home from a hunting trip near Kane, with a five-point buck.

And still they come, the hunters who are successful in bagging big game this season. Word has been received from Calvin English, 604 Erie avenue, who with Roy Woodrow, are hunting in Huntington county, Black Log mountains, that Mr. English brought down a ten-point buck this week.

Even the downtown fire hydrants, Pa Newc noticed today, will be in bright holiday dress for Christmas. The hydrants are being painted a fiery red.

VIENNA, Dec. 6.—Two thousand Hungarian men and women, young and old, sick and well, and some of them blind and halt, have been expelled from Yugoslavia during the last 24 hours.

They have been swept across the border, joining some 10,000 others thrown out of Yugoslavia during the last six weeks, one of the most dramatic aftermaths of the assassination of King Alexander at Marseilles.

They are included, according to detailed dispatches in the Viennese press, in the "dangerous elements" being rounded up by the Yugoslavian police in districts which formerly belonged to Hungary. They were sent under escort to the nearest border stations and dispatched across the frontier.

Most of the participants in the tragic exodus were ordered to leave their homes within 24 hours. Most of them were destitute, and those who did have some money were forced to part with most of it to pay heavy taxes before leaving.

Several Important Clues Are Being Followed In Mysterious Gun Play

(International News Service)

LEBANON, Pa., Dec. 6.—Police today launched an investigation of the mysterious shooting of Miss Emma Miller, 26, of near Lebanon, who was found critically wounded late last night in Fountain Head field, the cavalry parade ground of the national guard military reservation at Colebrook.

Miss Miller, meanwhile, was reported in a serious condition at Good Samaritan hospital where physicians feared for her life. The bullet entered her left breast, missed the heart and lodged in the back.

County Detective George Tucker, investigating the case, refused to comment other than to disclose that a suspect may be arrested in the Colebrook area.

Then he told how important navigation was, especially over the ocean. He paid great tribute to the American that took him to Australia, and the Australian that brought him over this time.

President Gives His Attention To Program For 1935

Returns To White House To Complete Economic Program For Nation

WORK RELIEF PLAN TO FORM BASIS

Giant Housing Program Is Also Being Given Steady Consideration

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

ABOARD PRESIDENTIAL SPECIAL TRAIN, Dec. 6.—President Roosevelt has completed the basic structure of his economic program for the nation in 1935.

Under this program, the new deal next year will swing around a central axis of a giant combination housing and work relief plan.

There will be additions, and revisions of the setup as now planned. Much polishing up remains to be done. The details are in what the president calls the study stage.

Back of the haziness, however, there looms already the broad outline of a cohesive whole. How his plans will be put into effect, Mr. Roosevelt has not yet decided. Just what will be done, on the other hand, he has pretty clearly in his mind.

Shape New Program.

A two weeks' "vacation" in his "little White House" on the Georgia arm Springs infantile paralysis foundation served to shape the new administration program. Today the

Earle's Newly Named State Relief Head To Study State's Problem

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 6.—Robert L. Johnson, who has been appointed director of the State Emergency Relief board in the administration of Governor-elect George H. Earle, today declared that he plans no drastic shake-up in the ranks of Pennsylvania relief workers.

"I'm going to Washington next week," Johnson said, "to discuss relief matters with Harry L. Hopkins, federal emergency relief director. Then I'm going out to Ohio and after studying relief methods there, I plan to come to Pennsylvania to analyze conditions which are facing me."

Leave Of Absence

Johnson revealed that he has obtained a year's leave of absence from his connections with Time and Fortune magazines, both of which he helped to organize.

"If Governor Earle needs me at the end of the year I shall continue in the relief job," he said.

Declaring himself pleased with Governor-elect Earl's announcement that politics will not be permitted to interfere with the conduct of the relief agency, Johnson said:

"I don't think it wise to pay men to rake leaves about just to make them work. All work relief should give lasting benefit to the community.

"I have no intention of making wholesale changes in Pennsylvania's relief set-up. Any administrators, supervisors or workers who have been doing a capable, efficient job will not be disturbed."

Her body was found stuffed in a culvert under a railroad track.

Authorities Get Aid For Battle On Bandits From Gangster's Widow

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Dec. 6—Armed with information wrung from Mrs. Helen Gillis, widow of the slain George "baby face" Nelson, the department of justice today was ready to deal a crushing blow at the remnants of the John Dillinger gang of desperadoes.

Repeated questioning by federal agents in the seven days since her surrender has yielded vital clews concerning the possible whereaoouts and habits of the Dillinger gang survivors, it was reported.

Tips Are Given

A voluntary assistant in the interrogation, according to reliable reports, was Mrs. Juliette Fitzsimmons sister of public enemy No. 1 Nelson. Mrs. Fitzsimmons arranged the surrender of the fragile 21 year old widow one week ago after the furious gun battle at Barrington, Ill., in which Nelson killed federal inspector Samuel P. Crowley and agent Herman Hollis before he was fatally wounded.

With the information yielded by Mrs. Gillis federal operatives apparently were confident that a clean up of the last handful of Dillinger arch-criminals was imminent today. Chief among the gangsters still at large are John Hamilton, the nation's new public enemy No. 1 and Alvin Karpis, wanted for the ransom kidnapping of Edward Bremer, St. Paul banker.

Naval Parity Demand Will Menace Peace

United States Takes Firm Stand On Matter Of World Armaments

OFFERS REDUCTION AT LONDON PARLEY

If Japan Fails To Recede From Naval Parity Demand Parley Will Fail

(International News Service)

The United States took a firm stand in the world naval crisis today, giving the first detailed account of its position at the preliminary naval talks in London.

Norman H. Davis, head of the American delegation in London, bluntly warned Japan that her demand for naval parity was a menace to world peace and disclosed for the first time that the United States had proposed to Britain and Japan a plan for "a substantial all-round reduction in naval armaments."

U. S. Stand Given

It was made known officially in Washington that the United States will definitely consider Japan as abandoning the London talks the moment she announced her abrogation of the Washington naval treaty, expected this month. This confirmed an exclusive International News Service dispatch from Washington of yesterday.

Three Objectors Are "Pilloried"

Kentucky Police Officials Pillory Three Young Men Who Refuse To Work

(International News Service)

PAINTSVILLE, Ky., Dec. 6.—Paintsville's three "conscientious objectors" to working out their fines today were again pilloried on the town's busiest street intersection for a time, chained with heavy log chains to iron posts and to heavy iron balls.

On account of bad weather, police returned James Price, 25; William Dills, 24, and Oscar Pelphrey, 22, the men who refused to work out fines for minor charges, to jail after a short stay at the "pillories." They said, however, that the men will again be put out at noon if they continue their refusal to work.

Crowds at first showed sympathy with the three coatless men and chairs were provided for them. Today, however, when the explanation had gone around that the men refused to work as other prisoners, there was less feeling against the police action.

A deadlock between the youths, who laughingly said they didn't plan to do "a lick of work" and Police Judge R. A. Patrick appeared certain today when the judge said that he would order the punishment continued.

TO KEEP ORDER DURING SAAR PLEBISCITE

Troops To Guard Rich Saar Basin

Armed Force Numbering Between 4,500 And 5,000 Men Will Maintain Guard

SERIOUS TROUBLE MAY BE AVERTED

(International News Service)

GENEVA, Dec. 6—An armed force of from 4500 to 5000 troops will keep peace in the Saar basin as the residents ballot for their future national allegiance in January.

"Knox's army" it was authoritatively predicted today, will exceed by far the 1200 that Geoffrey Knox, head of the League of Nations Saar governing commission, felt would be sufficient to maintain order.

The increase, it was understood, was decided upon after the delegates to the league council had conferred with their home governments and with their army general staffs.

May Avert Trouble

Britain and Italy, it was believed, would furnish 2000 troops each, Belgium 500 and Holland would stand by with a smal contingent of sailors.

Knox, stressing that he wanted "troops"—not police," told International News Service today that with 1000 to 1200 soldiers he was 'certain that there would be no trouble of any kind during the plebiscite period.

NAVAL PARITY DEMAND WILL MENACE PEACE

parent stand in support of the United States against Japan on the naval issues was affirmed in the House of Lords by the Marquess of Lothian, who said Britain would join the United States in upholding the Washington treaty.

Suggest Navy Cut

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—A 20 per cent cut in the size of the world's navies was the "substantial all-around reduction" in naval armaments proposed at London by Ambassador Norman H. Davis, chief of the American delegation to the London naval discussions.

Davis was instructed to make this proposal by President Roosevelt as America's contribution to the cause of naval disarmament.

However, the American proposal was based on the existing naval ratio system.

Japan's insistence upon abolition of this system and the right to possess a navy as powerful as the American or British fleets automatically blocks the American proposal.

Davis' speech at London today, in which he warned Japan that its naval parity demand was threatening world peace, was inspired at the state department here.

As well as being an eleventh hour appeal to Japan to reconsider its declared intention to denounce the existing naval ratio system, it also was intended to clarify in the minds of the average citizen the difference between what Japan wants and what is provided under existing treaties.

Warns Japan

LONDON, Dec. 6.—The United States today bluntly warned Japan that its insistence upon naval parity with the American and British fleets threatens world peace and may precipitate a naval race.

American Ambassador Norman H. Davis, in a luncheon address to a group of American correspondents here, declared the United States believes abandonment of the present ratio system governing the limitation of navies "would lead to conditions of insecurity, of international suspicion, and of costly competition, with no real advantage to any nation."

Davis' speech represented the first public pronouncement made by the United States concerning the naval situation since the opening of the naval discussions here. It was made upon instructions from Secretary of State Hull at Washington, and was designed as a last-minute appeal to Japan to reconsider its declared intention to denounce the Washington naval treaty.

Declaring the Japanese plan for full naval equality would not give "equality of security," Davis said:

"The principle adopted (in the Washington treaty) was that of equality of security. Any basic alteration in this system must be necessity alter the security thus established.

"The fundamental issue in the naval conversations now in progress is essentially as follows: Is the equilibrium that was established by the system worked out in the Washington treaties to be continued or is it to be upset?

U. S. For Continuance

"The American government stands for continuance. The only alternative that has so far been suggested is that of a new naval agreement based on the principle of equality in naval armaments, a principle which if adopted and applied would not give equality of security.

"We believe that only by maintenance of the system of equality of security, with proportionate reductions downward of naval strength if possible, can there be maintained the substantial foundation for security and peace which has thus far been laid.

"We believe that the course taken in 1922 (when the Washington treaty was concluded) was in the right direction; that the supplementary agreements made in 1930 were an improvement; that the system thus established has been of advantage to all concerned; and that abandonment now of the principles involved would lead to conditions of insecurity, of international suspicion, and of costly competition, with no real advantage to any nation."

Taking Japan to task for its assertion that the superiority of the American and British navies constituted a menace to its security, Davis declared none of the powers would have agreed to the existing treaties if it felt that "its national security was thereby menaced or impaired."

Pointing out the ratio system has been the only successful system ever found to reduce and limit navies; Davis added the United States would "greatly regret and regard as most unfortunate the destruction of this system of naval limitation which has proved generally beneficial and which has not jeopardized the security of any nation."

SECOND GRAND JURY IN FAVOR OF FIRE VAULT

ed, and that great risk is being taken under present conditions.

This is the second grand jury that has recommended the construction of a vault. No attention was paid to the former recommendation, but if there should be a fire and some of the records should be destroyed, the juries will no doubt point to the fact that they had done their part in making the recommendation.

No Location Fixed

No specific place for the construction of the vault was named. There are two locations that have been discussed. One in the basement and the other between the east and west wings of the court house, south of the prothonotary's office. Either of these places would be easily accessible from the prothonotary's office.

The jury reported that it had visited the county buildings and found them in fair condition. Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard was complimented on the sanitary condition of the county jail.

The jury found that the juvenile home is not a very suitable place for keeping young prisoners, and recommended that another place be secured if possible.

An additional toilet adjoining jury room No. 1 was recommended.

The court house rooms were found to be in a clean and sanitary condition.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

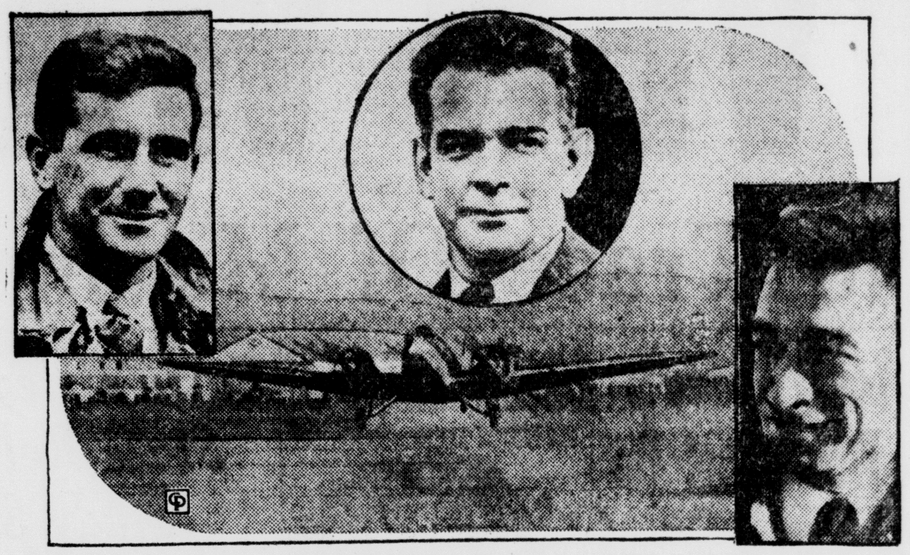

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. ©1934 C. M. Co.

Birth Of Twins Two Days Apart Creates Record

Medical Men Amazed At Twin Girl Born 46 Hours After Her Sister

(International News Service)

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Dec. 6.—Another unusual incident in medical history occurred here today when a baby girl was born in St. Luke's hospital 46 hours after the birth of her twin sister.

The twins, arriving nearly two days apart to establish what was believed to be a medical record, were born to 27-year-old Mrs. Henry Loder, of this city.

At 3 a. m. on Tuesday the first of the twins came into the world, weighing five pounds, six and one half ounces.

Her sister was born at one a. m. today, hospital physicians said, and weighed five pounds, 15 and a half ounces.

The doctor who attended the births said that the longest time elapsing between births of twins at St. Luke's hospital hitherto was 35 hours.

CONGRESSMAN ECKERT READY TO TAKE SEAT

He expects to find out what the administration intends to do toward developing the natural resources of Pennsylvania, as embodied in waterways transportation, flood control and hydro-electric development.

President Roosevelt has already ordered a survey of Pennsylvania's resources, Congressman-elect Eckert stated, with the idea of developing the principal streams of the state somewhat on the comprehensive idea embodied in the Tennessee valley project.

Sees Need For Development.

Mr. Eckert stated that he has the thought in mind that the Ohio valley should be similarly developed looking to the future and the possible needs of the community, not only for navigation purposes, but also for flood control and hydro-electric power.

He feels that the Pittsburgh district, once known as the workshop of the world, is deteriorating because other communities have received the benefit of improvements which should have been made in this district. In speaking of the development of the Ohio, he added that he would include all of its tributaries, particularly the Beaver river.

Congressman-elect Eckert stated that he is a strong advocate of social betterment of the people, and will work willingly and untiringly for measures which will bring about better living conditions for all.

He has not yet selected his secretary, he stated, but expects to do this in the near future.

SEARCH FOR TRIO OF PACIFIC FLIERS PROVES FRUITLESS

Honolulu, Fanning Island, the Fijis and New Zealand.

Not a single clue to the whereabouts of the airship has been found.

United States coast guard cutters and 17 navy vessels from Pearl Harbor swept the ocean within a 30 mile radius again last night in another futile hunt.

Hope was still held that scores of Japanese fishing sampans which put to sea Tuesday night on their regular trips may have sighted the drifting plane if it is still afloat. The sampans are not equipped with means of communicating with shore.

Some naval officials concurred in Ulm's belief the wood and fabric construction of the plane, and its empty gasoline tanks, would keep it afloat for two days. Others were skeptical.

Yesterday afternoon, Lieut. Paul Foley, one of the numerous Navy aviators participating in the search radioed Naval headquarters here he had sighted a "drifting object" 300 miles southwest of Oahu Island but after flying low and making a close inspection it proved to be driftwood.

The search for the missing plane was concentrated southwest of Oahu today on the theory the fliers overshot their mark.

executive rode toward Washington and a winter of hard work with the real outline of his new plans clearly in his thoughts.

The presidential special was scheduled to pull into the nation's capital about noon. From the station the president expected to go directly to the White House. Late this afternoon, he will be as busy as ever in his executive quarters, just now ready for occupancy.

A series of conferences with administration aides who rode northward with him enabled the president to bring his plans to something like a completion. These administration officials have been visitors at the Roosevelt cottage in Warm Springs for several days. Today they were traveling companions as the train brought the executive back to work.

Conferences Planned.

Conferences which will take place in the White House during the next several weeks will put the finishing touches to the administration's program. When the new congress convenes next month, the president will have completed in almost every detail the new deal's scheme of operation for the coming year.

Besides the double work relief and federal housing program, several moves of a major nature have been planned for the coming year. Included among these, of course, is the presidential proposal for enactment of unemployment insurance legislation during the coming congressional session.

Other presidential ideas include a plan for carrying still further the idea of federal manufacture of electric power, with the obvious intention of showing the private power people that they must lower rates if they expect the government to keep out of the competitive power field.

Reaches Washington.

Washington, Dec. 6.—President Roosevelt returned to the capital at noon today from a several weeks' sojourn at Warm Springs, Ga.

Vice President Garner headed a reception committee at Union station,, which included Secretary of State Hull, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and a number of senators and congressmen.

The president returned apparently rested from his stay in the south, and in gay spirits. From the station, he went directly to the White House to inspect the new executive offices which have been completed during his absence.

HIT THAT COLD WHERE IT LIVES— in the System!

Don't fool yourself about a cold! It's nothing to be taken lightly nor treated lightly. A cold is an internal infection that will quickly spread within the system unless promptly checked. The wise thing to take for a cold is Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine.

First of all, it is distinctly a cold remedy and not a "cure-all". Secondly, it is an internal treatment Thirdly, it does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels, combats the cold germs and fever in the system, relieves the headache and grippy feeling and tones and fortifies the entire system. Corner chat, or much of it these days, seems to center largely about this question: "What's to be done with the city's old post office after the diamond building is opened?"

If the wives of New Castle Rotarians find their husbands are not eating heavily these days, they needn't worry. Up at New Wilmington next Monday night the annual "buckwheat rodeo" of district Rotarians is to be held. Nuf ced!

While no reports have as yet been received of any hunter bagging a deer in Lawrence county this hunting season, Pa Newc gets a report from Koppel that a Beaver county hunter shot a deer near Homewood.

Not every New Castle mother or father may know it, but their sons and daughters in the city's elementary and junior high schools are participating these days in a contest which stresses the value of healthy teeth. It's helping to keep lively youngsters, too apt to think little of their teeth until aches come, more anxious to see that proper care is taken. The contest is being conducted by the dental hygienist of the schools.

Two more successful hunters have returned to their homes, Arthur Wade, Butler avenue extension, and D. C. Bovard, Winslow avenue, who were hunting in the vicinity of Emporium. Mr. Wade brought back a 165-pound specimen, while Mr. Bovard's weighed 145 pounds.

Property Seized

Today's mass executions were carried out with the speed ordered by the government following the slaying of Kirov. The convicted "white guards" were taken before firing squads on the same day that sentences were passed. Trials were brief and there were no attorneys present on either side.

Thirty-seven were tried and executed at Leningrad. Twenty-eight men and the woman, Zeneda Bulugin, were shot in Moscow.

All their property was ordered confiscated by the state.

This was believed to be the largest number executed at one time in Russia since the revolution in 1918.

cottage who investigated an unidentified motorist's report that he heard a scream. The motorist, it was reported, said he saw an automobile leave the spot where the girl was found.

Miss Miller regained consciousness at times but refused to discuss the circumstances of the shooting, hospital attaches said.

Detective Tucker also indicated that he has discovered several clues at the girl's home.

Went On Auto Ride

Lebanon, Pa., Dec. 6.—Found critically wounded on the Cavalry Parade ground at the National Guard Military Reservation at Colebrook last night, Miss Emma Miller, 26, of Reinohlsville, told police today she believes she was shot by a man with whom she went for an automobile ride last night.

Police said the girl told them the man gave her a drink and that she remembered nothing after that except the pains of the bullet wound. A gun was found near where she lay wounded.

Her statement was taken at her bedside in the Good Samaritan hospital where she was reported in a poor condition following an emergency operation.

Man Is Sought

County Detective George Tucker said Laudermilch, who is married and the father of several children, was being sought because a .32 calibre gun discovered near the girl was found to have been registered in his name. A man's gray felt hat also was found nearby.

Tucker said Mrs. Laudermilch reported her husband left home early yesterday evening and had not returned.

An enlightening talk on "The Teaching of English" by Miss Alice Dean, teacher of fourth grade English at the training school of the Slippery Rock State Teachers' college, featured last night's meeting of the Lawrence County Principals' association at the Y. M. C. A.

The schoolmen, during a business session presided over by President Glen W. Johnston, Shenango principal, decided to accept the invitation of New Castle fair officials to sponsor a school exhibit at the 1935 show. The show of this year was a complete success.

Discussion of the Pennsylvania Music and Forensic League contests for 1935 occupied a part of the meeting. Representatives of the association will go to Greenville on December 11 to attend a meeting of sectional school leaders which will determine dates and rules for the spring competition.

"COUNTRY CLUB CONVICTS"

JUDGE McDEVITT'S vigorous denunciation at Philadelphia of well-meaning but ill-advised state welfare officials who he charges mollycoddle prisoners and pevent proper discipline in the Eastern Penitentiary will strike a responsive chord in the minds of many.

He asserts that the prisoners have every modern convenience excepting telephone service, "and the only reason they don't have that is because the secretary of welfare has not yet thought of it."

It is realized that this is an exaggeration; but it is also a recognition of the belief that too many privileges are accorded in many instances.

Judge McDevitt does not have a high opinion of "criminal clinics" and it is to be assumed that he does not subscribe to the theory that all convicts are merely "sick" people who should receive favored treatment.

There would be fewer outbreaks in prisons and probably less crime if every potential criminal knew that he would have to pay in full.

NOT TOO FAST

The relief administration according to a dispatch from Washington, has given tentative approval to the establishment of 50 rural industrial communities for the unemployed "in the face of a ruling by Comptroller General J. R. McCarl that such use of relief funds is illegal."

The comptroller general may be right or he may not be in his ruling. His opinion, nevertheless, deserves to be respected until and unless it should be upset in a proper test of the legality of the projects under consideration. The administration would make a serious mistake by proceeding otherwise.

The proposed rural industrial communities represent a very worthwhile idea and one from the carrying out of which much good might result. Should the question of illegality cloud their establishment, however, their value would be greatly decreased. Misuse of public funds needs to be guarded against with the greatest possible vigilance today when millions are being poured out for a variety of causes.

DANGER IN OLD MINES

The Western Pennsylvania Safety Council of Pittsburgh has issued a warning on the inadvisability of entering inactive or worked-out coal mines and is urging the schools and parents to instruct their children of the dangers which lurk in such places. Adults, too, who would garner coal for the home, are warned that inactive and abandoned pits are more than likely to be death traps in disguise.

The Pennsylvania state mining laws require the owners of all active or operating mines to maintain sufficient ventilation for safe entrance but once a mine becomes inactive, or it is abandoned, the ventilation ceases and poisonous and very often explosive gases accumulate. Methane, or natural gas, frequently seeps from the coal or an excess quantity of nitrogen may be formed from decaying timber. Often these gases accumulate in large quantities and rob the air of sufficient oxygen with the result that victims, who enter such places, are readily suffocated and die before aid reaches them.

Furthermore, boys and men who enter such mines, without proper authority, violate the state mining laws and are subject to heavy penalties upon arrest and conviction.

IS KILLING EVER JUSTIFIED?

When an English jurist charged the jury which later found an aged mother guilty of killing her imbecile son he said: "The time may come—we don't know—when it may be the law of this country that an imbecile or an idoit may be sent to merciful death."

In this particular instance the mother was informed she would have to undergo a serious operation. She feared it might result in her death, leaving her 31-year-old son to be cared for by others. There was no question but that she was devoted to her offspring. She confessed giving him 100 poison tablets. It was a "mercy killing" pure and simple. After her arrest the operation was performed upon the mother, and it was a success.

Was the murder justified? The jury, of course, could take no other action than to return a guilty verdict, under provisions of the law, but it was strongly recommended that mercy be extended to the woman.

Here is a question upon which the imagination can play without limit. It is one upon which it is hard to form a definite opinion. If the mother had died, her son would have become a public charge. His condition was hopeless, and the state would have been put to the expense of taking care of him. Or he might have been neglected, as his mother feared. On the other hand, the taking of human life, regardless of the situation, is a serious matter.

Criticism is wasted. The dumb won't profit by it and the smart will get wise without it.

What a world! All one-idea men are cranks, and all great things are done by one-idea men.

The enmity of a liar doesn't matter. Nobody believes him when he tells the truth about you.

THE IRISH OF IT

During the trial of a celebrated will case an Irishman was the principal witness.

"Was the deceased' asked the lawyer, "in the habit of talking to himself when alone?"

"I don't know," the the reply.

"Come, come, you don't know, and yet you were intimately acquainted with him?"

"Yes," said the witness slowly, "that's so; but you see I never happened to be with him when he was alone."

CROSS-EXAMINATION

Question: "You're always in trouble, aren't you?

Answer: Yes, that's right, I am.

Question: Nearly all your life, ever since you were a kid, things have been going wrong. Isn't that right?

Answer: Yes, but—

Question: Other kids picked on you, didn't they?

Answer: Yes, my childhood was unhappy.

Question: And when you were older, they didn't like you then, either?

Answer: No, they didn't.

Question: Your first wife left you, didn't she?

Answer: Yes, she was no good.

Question: And you didn't get along with your second wife, either?

Answer: No. I've had bad luck with my marriages.

Question: In fact, you've quarreled with a lot of people, haven't you, and you and your brother have not spoken for years?

Answer: Yes, he cheated me out of $500, and I never forgave him.

Question: You've had a lot of jobs, though, haven't you?

Answer: Yes, I don't have any trouble getting a job.

Question: But you don't keep them very long, do you?

Answer: No, I'm always having a run-in with some guy who doesn't play square with me and I tell him where to head in and out I go.

Question: But it's almost always you and not the other guy that goes out?

Answer: Sure, but I'm not sticking around where I'm not wanted. I know when to scram...What's the idea of all these questions?

Question: We're getting around to that now...The fact is, that you don't like many people and you've usually been treated badly by them?

Answer: You said it. My opinion of the human race is that you can't trust most of the people in it any further than you can throw a bull by the tail. They've all got a knife out for you and you got to protect yourself at all times.

Question: But isn't it just possible that the trouble is in You? Other fellows get along in this world. They have life-long friends and they get along with their families and they stay married and keep their jobs and they don't get into all the trouble that you do. Why's that?

Answer: I guess it's because they haven't got the independent spirit that I have. I'm not taking anything from anybody, and if they don't like it, it's okeh with me...And what's more, I don't like you, either; you ask too many questions that are none of your buisness. Is that clear?

Conclusion: Yes; but you ought to try liking people instead of hating them.

BRUTAL FRANKNESS DEFEATS ITS OWN END

You say you are frank?
It might be nearer the truth to say that you have bad manners.
Generally the one who is proud of his "frankness" is opinionated.
He does not hesitate to tell others of their faults as he sees them.
Others may possess as good judgment as he, but from a different basis their deduction may be as near right as the "frankly" critical one.
What he considers faults may be really strong points of character.
But if they do not coincide with his ideas of what is required, the bluntly frank individual blurts out a criticism of what he terms their "faults."
If what you consider faults are looked upon by the majority as fine traits to possess, it is time for you to inquire why.
The self-termed "frank" person is usually sensitive to unfavorable criticism in his direction.
He thinks his frankness a virtue: others think it very crude and rude.
Don't be extreme in your expression of "candid opinion."
Suggestions take better, hence get better results than harsh criticism.
The cases are rare where one must be knocked down to recognize truth.
To be sure, some are so self-minded that it is hard to make a dent.
But most persons could do without the brutally frank criticism.

FAREWELL TO THE GOLF COURSE

To ditches and the rough goodby
And to the traps at number three.
Until the birds begin to fly
No longer will you bother me.
Henceforth my mashie shots will land
Upon the green as they are planned.

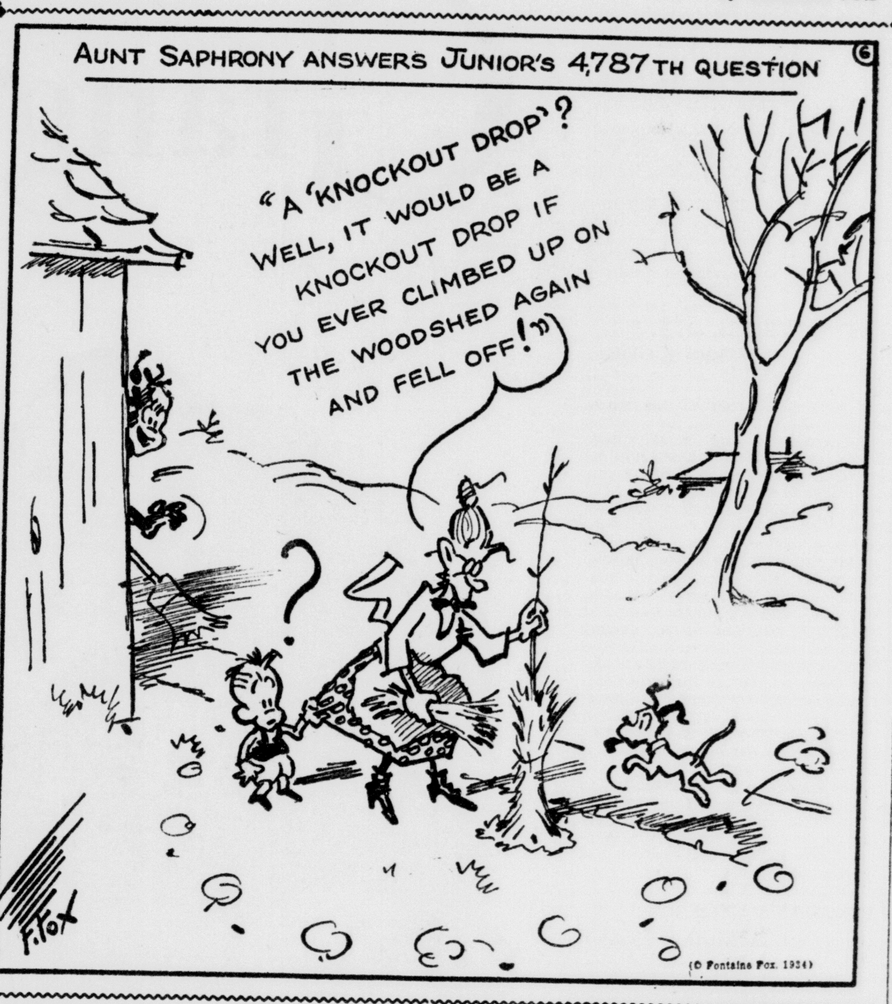

Tonight before my blazing fire
I'll hit a ball exactly right
And gratify my long desire
To watch its well directed flight.
That long eleventh hole will be
An easy "winter" par for me.

When restless on my bed I toss
I'll [illegible] y a sweet and soothing round;
That yawning seventeenth ditch I'll cross,
For when the snow is on the ground
My dreaming spirit never makes
The careless body's sad mistakes.

I'm done with anguish and despair
I'm done with hazards, and with traps.
All winter long I shall not care
To wrangle over handicaps.
In dreams, although the course is hard,
There'll be no "sevens" upon my card.

It's fair enough. Miners take gold from the ground and dentists pack it in teeth and send it back.

Congress With Roosevelt? To Avoid Diverse Elements.

Central Press
New York Bureau

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—One Washington observer has decided that the incoming congress, under pressure from many powerful elements, will decide to stand with the president—and let him take the blame or the credit. New York financial interests evidently have made the same decision.

Thus the plans that will count this session of congress will be those advanced by such leading advisers of the president as Raymond Moley, Rexford G. Tugwell, Secreaary of Labor Frances E. Perkins, Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes, Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace, Relief Administrator Harry Hopkins and "Assistant President" Donald Richberg.

That is a group satisfactory to the Progressives and to the people at large, but unsatisfactory to large financial interests.

Yet the large financial interests prefer this group, modified by President Roosevelt, to the Father Coughlins, the Huey Longs, the Dr. Townsends.

IN GROUPS

The American Liberty league, of Al Smith and the du Ponts, will not count numerically with the groups on the "other side of the fence", although it obtains more newspaper publicity.

The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin's National Union for Social Justice is likely to obtain the five million members it seeks.

Huey Long may obtain the two million or more members he seeks for his "Distribute Our Wealth" organization.

The Townsend "revolving pension" organization may become as large as the other two put together.

Wall Street may yet come to seek advice from Dr. Rexford Guy Tugwell on means of "saving" the nation it knows. Stranger things have occurred.

TODAY Is The Day

THURSDAY, DEC. 6

The World War Day-By-Day—Dec. 6, 1914—The Germans occupied Lodz, the second city of Poland, after six weeks of fighting during which both sides faced disaster.

The Russian second army, evacuating Lodz, was almost surrounded before the Grand Duke Nicholas could dispatch garrison and reserve troops from Warsaw and nearby fortresses to its aid. As this new army rushed to rescue, Germans, by a sudden turn of fortune found themselves caught between the enemy forces which had lost Lodz and the other comings along the Warsaw railroad. As a result part of th German enveloping force narrowly escaped the fate planned for the Russians. While Hindenburg's troops cut their way out of the Russian net north and west, new troops brought hastily from the western front, covered her broken corps as they emerged from the Russian gap.

Some of the most desperate and costly fighting of the war took place at this point. When it terminated, both sides claimed a victory, and the Germans and Russians faced each other in a double line across Poland from the Vistula to Galicia, and the campaign, like that on the western front, had resolved itself into a deadlock.

The Germans rightly celebrated the capture of Lodz as a great victory. One detail, however, announcements given the press failed to mention. For 15 hours Germans unsuspectingly lashed with a furious bombardment empty trenchy around Lodz from which Russians had stolen away the day before!

History Up-To-Date—It's 19 days to Christmas, but THIS is St. Nicholas' Day, when gifts are supposed to be exchanged.

Santa Claus is a German corruption of St. Nicholaus. He, the patron saint of thieves, virgins, sailors and children, was a bishop about 300 A. D. in Myra, Asia Minor. He owes his reputation as Santa Claus to the legend that he wished to protect three virginal young women from being driven into the streets by an impoverished father who could not supply them with dowries. St. Nicholas, passing the house in darkness, threw a bag of gold through an open window three successive nights, thus furnishing the dowries which enabled the father to obtain husbands for his homely daughters.

From this grew the tradition of making St. Nicholas' festival a gift-day. In time the custom was transferred in some countries to Christmas. But in Holland, Belgium and parts of Germany, children get their gifts on Dec. 6, expect none on Christmas.

During the Middle Ages, it was customary for a choir boy to be elected bishop in each diocese on St. Nicholas Day, and he held office until the 28. The cusotm was suppressed in 1542, but has lingered on in some localities ever since. It survives at Berden, Essex, England, where every Dec. 6 a boy-bishop is chosen to assume priestly robes and preside at ceremonies for 22 days.

Dec. 6, 1492—Christopher Columbus, having visited two other islands (San Salvador and Cuba) in a vain attempt to find the coast of Asia, which he thought was nearby, landed at an island he called Hispianola (Haiti) and established the first Christian settlement in the New World. This he named Isabella, in honor of the Spanish queen.

Dec. 6, 1732—"Broadway" was born. The first play known to have been performed by professional players in New York, was "given at the New Theatre in the building of the Hon. Rip Van Dam Esq." It was George Farquhar's comedy, "The Recruiting Officer." Promoter was "Mr. Thos. Heady, Barber and Peruque Maker to his Honor."

The theatre was not a success, because of the sinfulness attached to play-going by most of pastors of the day. Consequently it was 55 years before the first drama was successfully acted on a regular stage by an established company of players in New York. This was "The Contrast", by Royall Tyler—a judge.

Dec. 6, 1847—Abraham Lincoln cast his shadow upon the United States capitol for the first time. Aged 38, he entered congress an obscure representative from Illinois, destined to have a brief and undistinguished stay.

He was not a Republican, but a Whig.

FACTS THEY DIDN'T TELL

Editor, News:

At the same time that liquor dealers in their national annual convention were studying the best means of increasing drinking in the U. S. and praising the newspapers for their effective advertising, another organization was considering, at the nation's capitol, some serious consequences of the post-repeal drinking.

The International Association of Chiefs of Police, at the Mayflower Hotel, the last week in September, were told by Dr. Theron Wendell Kilmer, police surgeon of Hempstead, L. I., that the modern automobile, designed for quick starting and high speed, makes the intoxicated driver a potential murderer. Warnings have been issued by traffic experts all over the United States, declared Dr. Kilmer, that severe measures must be taken to keep down the number of accidents from this cause. Who are these death-dealing drivers? Dr. Kilmer said, not all the drunken are men. Frequently we see women in this deplorable condition — sometimes very young women.

Why this serious discussion, by an international body of police, concerning accidents from drunken driving?

The alarming increase in such accidents since repeal of prohibition was shown to be, in Washington, D. C., 42 per cent; Los Angeles, 479 per cent; Cincinnati, 380 per cent; Philadelphia, 300 per cent. The police surgeon urged prompt action before public sentiment is so aroused as to endanger repeal.

How aroused must the people become before "repeal may be endangered?"

How sober must a man be to "realize he is not a sober driver?"

When a driver's brain ceases to control his driving judgment, with what faculties shall he recognize his condition?

You're Wrong If You Believe—That Pennsylvania was named after William Penn, it's Quaker founder. It wasn't.

William Penn wanted to name it New Wales. It was commanded by King Charles II to name it for his father, Admiral Sir William Penn, who disowned his son because he became a Quaker. On Liberty Bell, it is spelled Pensylvania.

Florence S. Summers, Columbia, Mo., says you're wrong if you believe that the Pilgrim Fathers were the first white men to settle in America; that settlements had been made in Santa Fe previously by Europeans.

But you're wrong if you believe that the first settlements of white men were in Santa Fe, or St. Augustine. For settlements were established in New England in the 11th century by Norsemen.

Also you're wrong if you believe—That this Dec. 25 will be the 1934th anniversary of the birth of Jesus. It won't.

Senate Probers Make Effort To Reply To Hoover

Former President's Statement Brings Indirect Reply In Probe

STATE DEPARTMENT FILES IN CONTROVERSY

Senator And DuPont In Clash During Today's Investigation

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—In an apparent effort to reply to former President Herbert Hoover, the Senate munitions committee today revealed there was no evidence at all in the State Department's files to indicate who inspired the Hoover munitions conference in 1925.

The former President, in a public statement, declared he called this conference at the instance of the State Department. He also said a complete record of it would be found in the State Department's files.

Stephen Rausenbush, the committee's chief investigator, was sworn as a witness and testified there was no evidence at all in the State Department files about the Hoover conference. This testimony was placed in the record without comment on the former President's statement.

The munitions conference in 1925 resulted in the League of Nations arms control treaty being modified to suit American gun makers.

Senator Clark (D) of Missouri questioned Raushenbush.

"Did you have an opportunity to investigate the files of the State Department regarding the Geneva conference?"

"They opened all their files to me, including their confidential files," said Raushenburg. "I examined them carefully."

"Was there anything in the files suggesting that the conference called by Herbert Hoover, when he was secretary of commerce, had been called at the suggestion of the State Department?"

"No sir, I did not."

Clash Occurs

A clash between Clark and Irenee Dupont, one of the heads of E. I. Dupont De Nemours & Co., came next. It ended in Clark warning Dupont he was not running the investigation.

The controversy developed when Clark said he did not believe powder had any value.

"You didn't think that during the war," Dupont told Clark, who is an overseas veteran, "powder protected you then."

"It only protected munitions makers' profits," said Clark tartly.

"The profits were rolled up before the United States entered the war and not after," Dupont retorted.

"I mean we went into the war to protect the profits of the munitions makers on sales they made before we entered the war."

"There was absolutely nothing of the kind," Dupont countered. "Do you mean that President Wilson was dragged into the war by the heels on the insistence of the munitions makers?"

"I do not. I mean you set in motion a series of events that led us into the war."

Dupont began another protest and Clark interrupted him to say:

"Now, Mr. Dupont, as gently as I can, let me disabuse your mind that you are running this investigation. We will conduct this inquiry as the committee sees fit."

"I beg your pardon," Dupont replied, and sat down.

Clark then developed that the Dupont company made one sale of munitions that was shipped into China in violation of the Chinese arms embargo. The Dupont firm sent the shipment to Holland, but allegedly knew it was destined to be reshipped from there to the Nationalist army in China.

Major K. K. V. Casey, Dupont expert, explained his company had not consulted the state department on this shipment because there was no embargo in Holland. He insisted it was not a violation of the embargo although yesterday he condemned similar deals by munitions makers in other countries.

Threat Is Made To Kidnap Girl

Department Of Justice Of New England Interested In Latest Bold Move

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Dec. 6—Denying knowledge of federal intervention in the threatened kidnaping of Miss Eugenie Grew, 17-year-old adopted daughter of Randolph Grew, Boston banker and brother of Joseph C. Grew, ambassador to Japan, United States Attorney Francis J. W. Ford declared today the case "appears not to be important."

"I have received no information about the so-called Grew case," said Ford, "and I know nothing about it.

"I might say that Chief McKean, (Clarence D. McKean) head of the division of investigation of the Department of Justice in New England has not brought it to my attention, so it appears not to be important."

The attractive sub-debutante daughter of the Boston banker's second wife, Mrs. Helen Jones Coffin Grew, was trailed by automobile to the gate of the Manchester estate early Tuesday by strangers. Mrs. Grew flooded the grounds with lights and the strangers disappeared.

This incident followed two telephone threats, one a week ago last night and the other on Tuesday.

Body Of Noakes Will Be Buried At County Home

Father And Accused Slayer Of Three Little Girls Will Be Buried In Blair County

(International News Service)

DUNCANSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 6—Elmo J. Noakes, father and accused slayer of the three "babes in the wood" whose bodies lie in the fastness of death near the wind-swept South Mountain where they were found, will not join his three daughters in their final resting place.

Harvey M. Liebegott, local undertaker, announced today that Noakes' body will be laid to rest in the Blair county home cemetery in a pauper's grave. He said:

"I received a telegram today from Robert Noakes at Roseville, (Cal.) saying: 'Desire Noakes be buried there. Unable to raise funds."

The burial will follow simple services here at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Are Raising Funds

Liebegott said he would hold the body of Noakes' niece, Miss Winifred Pierce, who was also murdered by the father of the three girls shortly before he committed suicide in the flag station at Spring Meadow, near here, until next Monday. He explained:

"I received a telegram yesterday asking me to hold the girl's body until Monday. The telegram said the girl's relatives expected to raise sufficient funds by the end of this week to have her body returned to her home at Roseville. The message was sent by the Broyer Funeral home there."

One of the principal defects in most gardens is the lack of humus or vegetable matter. Many persons with small places burn up the leaves, and thus destroy a large amount of excellent fertilizing matter that is badly needed in the garden. Every gardener should save all the leaves possible and compost them with soil or other matter, to avoid their blowing away.

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Win Back Pep . . . Vigor . . . Vitality

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.

If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, lumbago, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 3 pints every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS . . . a doctor's prescription . . . which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.

But don't take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to fix you up in 15 minutes, for they may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS . . . the old reliable relief that contain no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

New Troubles For Hauptmann

Government Lien For Unpaid Taxes For Two Years Is Filed Against Suspect

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 6. — New troubles piled up today for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, alleged slayer of the Lindbergh baby, when a government lien alleging unpaid taxes for two years was filed against Hauptmann and his wife, Anni, in federal court, Brooklyn.

The lien, filed by William B. Reiley, internal revenue collector, sets forth that the government claims from the couple taxes unpaid for the years 1932 and 1933 in the sum of $9,678.30 and interest at 12 per cent from Nov. 20, 1934, to Dec. 1, 1934, amounting to $31.80.

Unable To Say

Although the lien did not indicate on what the tax charge is based, it was understood the lien was one of a number of liens filed for a similar amount in other federal district courts, including Manhattan.

Questioned on whether the government could claim income tax on money alleged to have been obtained by extortion, a federal court attache explained the government did not consider the source of a taxpayer's income, but was concerned primarily with whether the individual received the money. He pointed out that the government's insistence on collecting taxes from bootleggers had been upheld by the courts.

Housekeeper To Offer Testimony

Housekeeper In Home Of Slain Dr. Elliott Speer, Will Testify Today

(International News Service)

GREENFIELD, Mass., Dec. 6.—Mrs. Constantine George, housekeeper in the home of Rev. Elliott Speer, slain principal of Mt. Hermon School for Boys in Northfield, today went on the witness stand in the secret inquest.

Before Mrs. George entered the room, it was learned District Attorney Joseph T. Bartlett would again summon Thomas Elder, dean of the school and one of the first witnesses.

You can tell the educated. None but the ignorant have a satisfactory explanation of everything.

True, there would be jobs for all if women quit working. Or if men took the job of housekeeping.

GIRL WINS BATTLE WITH WOUNDED DEER

FRANKLIN, Pa., Dec. 6.—Women hunters are sharing laurels with the men this year. The most unusual kill, so far this season, was that of a 16-year-old Pithole girl, Miss Josephine Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Phillips, who Tuesday shot a deer with a "pumpkin ball" and then finished it with a blow from her gun over the deer's head.

Miss Phillips' eight-point buck fell at the first shot, then struggled. Then shot it several times after that. Then when about o cut its throat with her hunting knife, it gave a lurch toward her. In self-defense she used her gun as a club and felled it with a heavy blow, the gun being broken by the impact.

Moffett, in an address before 200 leading industrialists, cited a long list of cities that are far ahead of Pittsburgh in creating millions of dollars of construction business under the repair loan phase of the act. He assured them:

"What those cities have done in their campaigns, Pittsburgh can do. In fact, Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania can outdo the others."

The housing chief made a direct plea to the big corporations represented to do their share of plant repair and modernization.

Special Deputy Given Discharge

Joseph F. Marion, Ousted As Deputy Insurance Commissioner

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 6.—Joseph F. Marion at his home in suburban Drexel Hill today confirmed reports of his dismissal by Governor Gifford Pinchot as special deputy insurance commissioner in charge of liquidation.

"It's true," Marion said. "I have nothing further to say," he added in declining to comment on the action other than to say that his discharge did not come from the chief executive direct.

Any fears the pretty actress may entertain about the validity of her marriage were dispelled today, however, by Justice of the Peace Leo Mintzer, who performed the ceremony.

"As long as Miss Lee had obtained her divorce, this marriage will stand," Mintzer told International News Service. "They will not have to go through the ceremony again because of a small technical error."

Large Group Of Women Devoting Time To Scouts

Women Leading Girl Scout Troops Do So As Voluntary Service To Community

There are in New Castle between 65 and 70 women who are expending great effort and devoting a large part of their time every week in the leadership of the over 400 Girl Scouts of the community.

These women comprise the Girl Scout Council and the New Castle Girl Scout Leaders' Association. Although they carry on without much "show," they are doing a great work—a work that will live in the youth of the community for many years to come.

There is not one person receiving any pay whatsoever. It is entirely volunteer work. New Castle has not had a paid director for several years. The vast assemblage of duties ordinarily performed by a director have been in the hands of the council members.

At the present time there are 19 Girl Scout troops here. Heading each troop is a captain, who has taken an extensive course in leadership training, and several lieutenants, who assist her. Many of the captains, in addition to the regular six weeks' training course, have had special camp training. Last summer, with the aid of the Community Chest, a corps of the women were sent for two weeks to regional and national training camps.

OFFICIAL WEATHER FORECAST

FREEZING TONIGHT

GIVE YOUR CAR THE NEW PROTECTION OF

ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS for Winter

COLD weather is here! The official forecast for tonight is 32° or lower. Don't gamble with your engine . . . it's too expensive. Give it the correct grade of ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS for Winter . . . the oils that definitely mean less wear and lower upkeep.

Piston wear can be 65 times greater than normal during the warming-up period of a cold engine. One reason is that only a thin film of oil is present on the cylinder walls when an engine is started. If that oil is not strong enough to prevent metal-to-metal contact, scoring and scuffing can easily result . . . and a repair bill is born!

ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS for Winter have a remarkable new characteristic . . . EXTREMELY HIGH FILM-STRENGTH. They give your engine an extra margin of safety under the most severe operating conditions. Put in the correct grade for your car right now . . . before Winter really strikes. . . . For best results, drain your crankcase before putting in ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS for Winter.

Vets Sponsor Rally On Bonus

Will Have Public Meeting In Near Future To Assist With Campaign

TAKE ACTION ON VARIED PROJECTS

Harry L. McBride post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will sponsor a bonus rally to be held in the near future, when veterans of the county will be acquainted with legislative provisions now being made in behalf of this project by the National V. F. W.

T. John Stoner was named chairman of the committee from the post to make arrangements for this meeting.

Members of the post were invited to attend a district V. F. W. meeting in Rochester, Wednesday evening, December 12, and arrangements were made to send a delegation to the meeting.

The post went on record as being opposed to the methods used by a certain organization purporting to be composed of veterans, who are soliciting funds from local merchants, assuring the merchants that they have no affiliation with this organization.

A committee was appointed to find out how many sons of V. F. W. members there are who would be eligible to join a post of the Sons of Veterans, which organization is now being formed throughout the country.

A committee, consisting of T. John Stoner, chairman; George Christoph, Arnold Fishburn, Charles Marshall, Jack LaRue and Leslie Wooley was named to make arrangements for the annual Memorial Day service of the post, which is held in one of the local churches on the Sunday preceding Armistice Day.

Arrangements were made to send a large delegation to the Tri-County council meeting in Butler, Thursday evening, December 13.

Good luck charms have been received by the post and are being distributed to their friends as a means of raising funds for the maintenance of the Eaton Rapids widows and orphans home, and to provide a Christmas treat for the kiddies who reside there.

Unity Baptist Revival To Close

Three Weeks Of Evangelistic Meetings Will Come To Close Sunday Evening

This evening will be observed as "church" night in the Unity Baptist church at Harlansburg, where a series of evangelistic meetings have been in progress for three weeks, with the Rev. H. L. Davis and his sister, Edna Mae, in charge. A prophetic message "Will Jesus Christ Come For the Church?" will be given.

Friday night is for young people from 1 to 99. "The Ninety and Nine" will be given in picture, song and music. Miss Isabel Hunt will give some readings.

Saturday evening is "all request" evening when the favorite hymns will be sung. The persons will write the title of the hymn they want sung on a paper, and the name of who they want to sing it. The service will be an old-fashioned song service from 7:45 to 9:15 p. m.

The special meetings will come to a close Sunday evening, December 9. The program of Sunday services will be announced later.

In Senior High Play Friday

Jack Muse Wm. A. Evans, Jr.

Appearing in the Senior class play, "Big-Hearted Herbert" are a number of January graduates prominent in student circles.

Walter Conover is Mr. Havens, one of "those who belong," a foil for crude Herbert Kalness, Sr.

"Billie" Evans is Herbert Kalness, Jr., and his time on the stage is spent in amusingly varied complaints about his father's tyrannies.

Jim Lawrence is "big-hearted" Herbert's brother-in-law and in this role, "Les" Levine brings out the difference between a Harvard graduate and a self-made man with an inferiority complex.

Jack Muse is Mr. Goodrich, another of "those who belong," a guest of honor at the Kalness party where "Big-Hearted Herbert" reached the climax of his crudities.

Esther W. Trent has a "character" part, the Irish wash woman in the Kalness home, and contributes largely to the comedy whenever she makes an entrance. This well-balanced cast of minor parts will furnish admirable support for the unusual number of amateur stars.

Rubber Company Labor Elections Get Into Courts

(International News Service)

AKRON, O., Dec. 6—The first major assault on national labor relations board rulings was launched as labor elections ordered for the B. F. Goodrich Co. and the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. here for Friday were tossed into the United States circuit court of appeals at Cincinnati and automatically stayed.

The two large rubber factories petitioned the court for review of the case and asked that the elections order be set aside. Both companies lost their cases before the NLRB after lengthy hearings at Cleveland.

The elections were to be held to permit employes of the Goodrich Co. and the Firestone Co. to decide whether they wished to be represented in negotiations with the companies through the United Rubber Workers' Federal unions or through existing representation plans.

Making Progress On Cascade Street Improvement Job

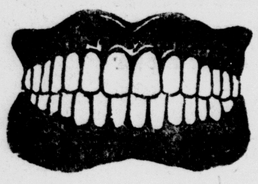

Every day sees more progress on Cascade street, the big RWD project that is attracting much attention these days. The excavation from East Washington street to Butler avenue has been made and stone is being put in at the East Washington street end.

Ordinary field stone is hauled to the job and is broken into smaller stones by hand labor. Later fine stone will be sifted into the chinks and the whole of it rolled down with a heavy roller. It is hoped that some black top material may be provided for the project, thus making a complete job of it.

Bisley, England, home of the British rifle shooting championship tournaments, has voted for the second time this year not to have street lamps. At the last election 31 per cent of the electorate went to the poll, and the counting was done by the light of two lamps.

There's one nice thing about dull times. You don't see go-getters figuring on restaurant table clothes.

Hearing Is Held At Pottsville In Kelayres Killings

Seven Face Murder Charges For Election Eve Massacre Of Paraders

(International News Service)

POTTSVILLE, Dec. 6—With 56 witnesses awaiting the call of special prosecutor A. L. Thomas, Meadville, to testify, hearing on the habeas corpus proceedings instituted for Joseph J. Bruno, former county detective and Republican leader and six of his kin charged with the election eve massacre of five men, opened in the Schuylkill county court today.

Eighteen "key witnesses" who were expected to testify that each of the seven defendants was seen shooting into the ranks of the Kelayres paraders, may be heard today.

Face Murder Counts

The accused men were re-arrested yesterday on new warrants charging each with separate counts of murder and were recommitted to the county jail without bail on the new charges. They previously had been held on blanket warrants charging murder and the latest action was taken so that all the defendants could be tried at the same time.

In the case of Betty Luchetto, 18 year old factory worker who repudiated a signed statement in which she allegedly declared she saw the elder Bruno, his brother, Philip and the latter's son, Arthur, firing at the marchers, the prosecution charged it has unearthed evidence that the girl had been offered $20 to change her story.

The others held were Alfred and James Bruno, sons of the former county Decteive, Paul Bruno, a nephew, and Tony Orlando, a son-in-law.

A number of witnesses testified for the prosecution at yesterday's arraignment when the new warrants were read. Twenty seven bullet wounds were found in the body of Frank Fiorella, one of the victims, Deputy Coroner J. J. Dailey, of McAdoo, testified.

Engineer And Foreman Of Sewer Project Acquitted Of Manslaughter Charges

(International News Service)

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., Dec. 6.—Ralph Whisler, Harrisburg, and Jacob Loy, Waynesboro, engineer and foreman, respectively, on the sewer project at Waynesboro in which three men were killed by a cave-in last July, were free on charges of involuntary manslaughter today in the death of one of the victims.

Whisler was acquitted by a directed verdict of the court on the grounds of insufficient evidence and Loy was found not guilty by a jury.

A previous trial of the case during the October term of court ended in a disagreement by the jury.

The cave-in resulted the commonwealth charged from the absence of timbers but Whisler testified he had received no instructions from the inspector on the project to place such supports.

New "Gold Rush" Area Is Crowded

Area In And Near Mojave, California, Is Crowded As Result Of Rich Strike

(International News Service)

MOJAVE, Cal., Dec. 6.—"S. R. O." "No trespassing."

These signs were displayed conspicuously today in and near Mojave, where rich new strikes of gold have electrified the west.

Hotels are filled and many old-time prospectors have pitched their camps and spread their blankets on the ground. As there is plenty of wood and water, it was expected the camp soon would resemble one of the early days.

Some prospectors were so busy protecting their claims from trespassers they have had no time to carry on much development work.

Following the rich strike at the Silver Queen mine which R. D. Gilmore, geological expert said would result in the greatest mining development in the history of the west, exceeding even the halycon days of Tonopah, Goldfield, Cripple Creek or Creefe, Vern Moore, Marvin Moore and Martin Engel, all of Cantil, Cal., made a new strike in Lone Tree Canyon district, 25 miles northwest of Mojave.

This led mining men to declare the new "gold rush" area would extend for 60 miles.

PAID OVER $40,000

Earnings last week of the 2,883 persons employed on RWD projects in Lawrence county totalled $40,328.92, Director George Mudehart of the Relief Division announced today.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m., November 5, six arrests on charges of having violated city automobile regulations.

There were 304 arrests made by city police during the month of November and the fines and forfeits collected totalled $732.00. This amount was raised to $810.40 by the payment of $15.00, each for three dance hall licenses and permits, which brought the city $32.00. Of the 308, one hundred and fifty-eight were arrested for violation of motor vehicle laws, 32 being speeders. Seventy persons were arrested for drunkenness, 12 for drunkenness and disorderly conduct and 22 for disorderly conduct. The other arrests were on charges as follows: Suspicious characters, 38; keeper of disorderly house, 1; visitor disorderly house, 4; warrant, 1, and violation of city laws, 2. One hundred and seventy-two of the 308 paid fines, 18 were sent to jail, 105 discharged, one placed in custody of an alderman, one turned over to the parole officer, one turned over to an out-of-town officer, and one placed in custody of railroad police.

Members of the Shade Tree commission in a meeting held recently at City hall said that persons should not molest trees planted by the city between the curb and sidewalk unless they first notify the commission.

One hundred sixty RWD employes are at work in Rural avenue, grading the base of the thoroughfare where it joins Neshannock avenue. The avenue has been closed to traffic, according to RWD employes at City hall.

Joseph Alexander, director of buildings, said that he has made arrangements to buy coal for all city buildings from local dealers, having been given a price of $4.75 for A No. 1 coal.

Approximately 438 times during each 24 hours excepting Sunday the Gamewell and Bell telephones ring in the office of the desk sergeant at police headquarters. In addition to answering every one of these calls the sergeants make the radio broadcasts, 48 test calls and approximately 48 calls to cruiser cars operatives every 24 hours, according to an estimate compiled by an observer. There are about 26 patrolmen who are on beats. Each reports once an hour. They work eight hours. During the 8 a. m.—4 p. m. turn, and the 4 p. m.--midnight turn, 100 calls are made by Mr. and Mrs. John Public to police headquarters. Between midnight and 8 a. m. the calls are approximately 50 percent less. In addition to answering the telephone the sergeants docket all prisoners, take reports of automobile accidents and give information to persons who have business at the station house. The life of a sergeant nowadays is far different than years ago.

In W. T. Burns, city clerk, council has a valuable aide. Years ago he served as solicitor and later was elected to council. He served several terms in the finance department and later was elected city clerk. Very often matters which came before past councils are brought before the present body and it is then that councilmen turn to him. His memory is keen. Seldom does council ask Burns for information concerning matters in years gone by that he is unable to give them a lead.

Among city officials are two who have had a fling as aldermen. They are councilman D. O. Davies and Mayor Charles B. Mayne. Davies served in the fifth ward and the Mayor was a justice of the peace in the first ward. Davies has served several terms as a councilman while Mayne served as a councilman during the administration of the late Mayor A. D. Newell. Mayne was superintendent of streets in those days while Davies has held the posts of superintendent of parks and property and safety which includes the health, fire and electric bureaus. Councilmen J. D. Alexander and B. F. Butler have not previously held a city office. Councilman Albert Hoyland served as a public school director.

Cascade Park presents at present a big contrast to its appearance last summer. All the buildings have been closed and rarely does one see persons in the park. There are three watchmen on duty. Each works eight hours. Conditions years ago and now also are different. In the days of excursions, picnics and reunions there were many attractions and it was an amusement center. When it was acquired by the city the deed provided that no liquor could be sold in the park and it was rapidly converted from an amusement center into a place for recreation. The dance pavilion is practically the only attraction that can bring revenue to the city and it is unlikely that Cascade Park will prove a large money make for the city.

In a discussion recently with Finance Director Albert Hoyland the writer inquired as to whether or not the city proposed tc purchase much equipment next year. The finance agent for the city shook his head negatively and he intimated that he would be opposed to any increase in the millage. During the past few months he has warned colleagues that if they had to spend, to buy as economically as possible, and if it were possible to do without things they wanted to forget them. Each month a financial report is given to councilmen and they know exactly how much money the city can spend.

FOREIGN NATIONS WINKED AT ARMS EMBARGOES

Reveal Facts In Munitions Probe

Versailles Treaty Is Violated So That Reparations Were Swelled

CHINESE EMBARGO ALSO VIOLATED

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—The ten-year success of American munitions manufacturers in blocking any effort by congress to restrict their commerce in war materials was under scrutiny today at the senate munitions inquiry.

The manufacturers were defeated last summer when congress finally enacted legislation empowering the president to embargo munitions exports at any time. The senate, about the same time, authorized the present munitions inquiry—another step opposed by the munitions manufacturers.

No Effort To Enforce Treaty

This story of the "war trust's" operations will be pictured against a background of international intrigue in which foreign governments treated solemn treaties like so many scraps of paper. The inquiry has revealed that Great Britain, France and Italy stood idly by, while Germany and Austria rearmed in violation of the Versailles treaty. These governments remained silent, it was charged, because sales of war materials by the conquered central powers swelled their reparation funds.

Another phase of the story revealed how England, France, Italy and Japan winked at violation of the Chinese arms embargo. Munitions companies in all these countries shipped arms, planes, weapons or powder to China, sometimes for the government, despite the embargo. British firms even sold to both Japan and China during the Shanghai uprising.

American munitions firms meanwhile were well behaved, obeying the American state department which upheld the Chinese embargo. But they were active for ten years in fighting the imposition of embargoes by congress.

The officers are arranging a splendid program for the evening, and are making elaborate plans for the initiation of the two new incoming members.

HUGE DISTILLERY FOUND IN BEAVER

BADEN, Pa., Dec. 6.—One of the largest illegal whisky distilleries ever uncovered in Beaver county was dismantled here yesterday, and the alleged operator, John Petronchak of Ambridge, was bound over to Beaver county court, following a raid by local and state police and county detectives.

The distillery, a 100-gallon affair, was found in operation, with 60 gallons of "moonshine" and 780 gallons of mash.

A Flying Vanderbilt.
Two Were Tired of Life.
In and Out of Who's Who
Had He Beaten a Dog.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THE ORIGINAL Commodore Vanderbilt, who ran a little boat from Staten Island to the mainland, then became the country's biggest railorad man and head of the New York Central, would be interested to know that his great-grandson, William K. Vanderbilt, according to Mr. Maury Paul, has built a big airplane, for his personal travel.

His branch of the Vanderbilt family will be independent of railroads, even of yachts, except for ocean crossings.

W. K. VANDERBILT, as a youth, did a great deal to encourage the development of the American automobile parkway on Long Island, organized the first great automobile races that encouraged automobile building and better automobiles.

Now he takes to airship building, a good way to spend part of the money accumulated by the original Commodore.

HECTOR FULLER of New York, next to Grover Whalen the ablest official "greeter" of New York City, was chosen by Mayor Walker to stand at the City Hall entrance to tell distinguished arriving guests how happy New York was to see them.

Time passes, birthdays accumulate; Mr. Fuller discovered that he was seventy years old, with things not as they had been, and he killed himself. You hope that somebody "greeted" him on another short.

Old men applying for work hear in these days: "Sorry, nothing to offer." That makes gas through a tube seem easier than life.

ANOTHER, SADDER case of these "suicide days" was the death of a 21-year-old girl, who poisoned herself. Her name is omitted. She wrote to her family: "Not being able to have what I want, I have done this," and asked that "his letters and my poetry" be buried with her, and that he, "Joe", also be buried with her. He had told her that he would kill himself.

Police say that "Joe" is alive and well so far as they know, with no intention of committing suicide. For two years he had been secretly married to the unhappy girl. She thought he was surely going to kill himself and wrote, "I must go with him." She will be disappointed.

"Men have died, and worms have eaten them, but not for love."

THE BRITISH "Who's Who", out today, gives Hitler two lines. Frances Perkins is not in the book, although Greta Garbo is in, and Upton Sinclair, with a full account of his "EPIC".

Those left out must console themselves with the fact that Leonardo da Vinci, in all his writings, did not mention Christopher Columbus, and the Duke of St. Simon, in his long memoirs, makes only one little mention of Voltaire, merely because "he was the son of my father's notary."

He was also the father of the French Revolution, which put an end to the importance of French dukes. But St. Simon could not know that.

AT TIVOLI, N. Y., the courtroom cheered when a jury acquitted a teacher, 27 years old, for beating a 13-year-old boy with a rubber hose and allegedly hitting him with his fist. The man admitted using the rubber hose, but denied using his fist.

Had he admitted beating a young dog with a rubber hose the courtroom would not have cheered.

SENATOR HUEY LONG if Louisiana says he had enrolled 1,460,000 Americans in his "share-the-wealth" plan.

That seems a small figure for a plan to divide big fortunes. New York and Chicago had thriving "share-the-wealth" organizations before Senator Long started his. Some original gentlemen with share-the-wealth inclinations are in Atlanta penitentiary, some in a Colorado prison, some on Alcatraz Island, in the bay back of San Francisco.

SENATOR BORAH says:

"Reorganize the Republican party, make it liberal, bring in the young men."

Mr. Fletcher, chairman of the Republican National committee, an "oldish" gentleman, says he will do nothing of the kind. The party is all right.

It is like two partners owning a hansom cab quarreling about repainting it. That would make no difference. The Democratic taxi is the thing just now, running at high speed, with billions of real money exploring inside the engine. Republican hansom cabs are out of date. Even if the Democratic taxi stopped for lack of financial gas, the Republican hansom cab would hardly come back.

WILEY POST, one of the good fliers, in a struggle of two hours and eleven minutes, climbed up into the air, he thinks, about 48,000 feet, breaking a record, in a temperature 70 degrees below zero. Mr. Post will now try to go 10,000 feet higher, which would be about 11 miles up.

He would need to go 480 miles higher to reach the top of our atmosphere. Somebody will do that, but not soon.

A JEWISH group in Palestine has purchased at a reported price of $1,000,000 forty thousand acres of land near Lake Hulea, said to be highly fertile, capable of supporting thousands of Jewish colonists.

On that land, naturally fertile, Jewish colonists will endeavor to restore the marvelous fertility of ancient Palestine, enthusiastically described by Taine.

MURDER CHARGE AGAINST MAN IN KILLING OF SON

Heber Westover, 28, Held In Jail At Indiana, Pa., For Killing Of Infant

(International News Service)

INDIANA, Pa., Dec. 6.—Unable to explain why he shot his two children, one of whom died, Heber Westover, 28, was under indictment on a murder charge today.

The indictment accuses him of slaying his two and one-half year old son. Hospital officials expect the second child, Charles, four months old, will recover from bullet wounds in the abdomen unless complications develop.

Regretting his act, Westover has admitted the shooting and will be tried at the March term of court unless he pleads guilty to the charge. Since the tragic gun play, his wife has divided her attention between the wounded child and the husband.

PROBE KILLING OF AMERICAN

(International News Service)

HAVANA, Dec. 6.—Officials of the department of interior, under pressure from Ambassador Jefferson Caffery of the United States, took over the investigation into the killing of James McNenny, 70, of Jersey City, N. J.

In the meantime, friends of McNenny indignantly reported to Caffery that charges of McNenny's brother-in-law, Baldomiro Lopez, who is said to have confessed to slaying McNenny because he allegedly annoyed Senora Lopez were ridiculous.

McNenny's body was found Tuesday on his farm near Holguin, in Oriente province, some 500 miles east of Havana.

When General Tom Thumb and His Midget Bride Were Married in Brilliant Society Ceremony

General Tom Thumb

Mrs. Tom Thumb

NO SOCIAL event of the early sixties attracted more attention and was more brilliant than the big wedding of two of the smallest people in the world in 1863. The bride and bridegroom in this wedding spectacle were Lavina Warren and General Tom Thumb, midgets of Barnum's museum. The general and Lavina were married in Grace church, in New York City, on Feb. 10, and the ceremony was attended by some of the most prominent society figures of the day. A newspaper clipping of that day tells that "before the hour of high noon the entire neighborhood of Grace church was thronged by expectant and smiling crowds...The graceful form of the bride was displayed to peculiar advantage in her robe of white satin...Among the bridal gifts presented to the happy pair were a coral and gold set brooch, earrings and studs of the finest workmanship, presented by Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt; a silver miniature tea set, by Mrs. James Gordon Bennett..." It is said that another midget, Commodore Nutt, wanted to marry Lavina, but Tom's attentions to her were finally successful.

LUND GIVES NEW LEADERS TORCH

Francis "Pug" Lund — Glenn Seidel — Bill Bevan

Francis "Pug" Lund held pretty high the Minnesota football torch during the season that is just ending, and the young men to whom the All-American halfback is "tossing" it, face quite a job doing as well. Captain Lund, left, hands the symbol to Glenn Seidel, captain-elect for 1935 and Bill Bevan, right, 1935 alternate.

PAINSTAKING WORK TAKEN WITH TODAY'S DOLL

Never before in the world's history has so much painstaking labor been expended in making dolls. The best are designed by sculptors of great repute, the little bodies are soft and pliable, more like a real baby's, and they are made durable and washable as well. The bodies are made of cloth and wrapped with great care, as shown in the picture at top center; the head is adjusted with pains and the hair put on so as to get the most lifelike effect. The effect of such care in the making is shown in the finished dollies shown at right and left. These are dolls which will be exhibited at the famous old Leipzig fair when it opens early in the new year.

"Romeo" Is Jailed

"I am ruined. I can't go back to Texas now," mourns Mrs. Eva Daniels, 30, of Georgetown, Tex., above, who left her husband and two children at home while she made visit to relatives in Philadelphia. There she casually met Duncan Dunscomb (below), ex-army officer, who induced her to make tour of New York nightclubs with him. Then, she alleges, he decamped with her jewelry. Four other women have appeared to make charges against the "professional Romeo."

Auto Fatalities Set New Record

Over 28,000 Killed In Ten Months This Year, With 740,000 Injured In Accidents

DRUNKEN DRIVING SHOWS INCREASE

Approximately 28,400 persons have been killed and 740,000 injured as a result of nearly 600,000 automobile accidents in this country during the first ten months of this year, according to statistics compiled by one of the leading insurance companies of the country, from state reports.

The increase in fatalities, which amounts to 16 per cent, indicates that the annual record of fatalities from street and highway accidents this year, will exceed 36,000. This will be an all-time high mark in deaths from automobile accidents, as the previous record was in 1931, when more than 33,000 persons were killed.

The deaths this year may even approximate 37,000 inasmuch as the indicated increase of 16 per cent is based largely on preliminary reports. August has been the only month so far this year, to show a decrease compared to the corresponding month last year in the number killed in auto accidents. The available record shows that out of the total number of drivers involved in automobile accidents, there has been a gain of almost 24 per cent in the number who were declared intoxicated; and out of the total number involved in automobile accidents this year, records show a gain of 55 per cent who were declared intoxicated.

On Court House Hill

W. A. Bone of Grove City, former sheriff of Mercer county, visited Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard yesterday and was shown through the county jail.

Mike Conti has filed preliminary papers in a foreclosure proceeding against Andrew Conti, the amount of a mortgage on Huron avenue property being $2500.

Prothonotatry Ralph M. Campbell is preparing a list of cases to be placed on the common pleas court list, for a term of court to begin on January 14.

County Treasurer William O. Pitts has employed some extra help to prepare books for the delinquent tax collectors throughout the county. Edward Umbright, who is to collect the delinquent county taxes for the city, is staying at the court house until the books are completed in order that he may accommodate any who wish to pay. The amout of delinquent taxes for this year will not be difinitely known until the books are all prepared.

Superintendent of Highways, H. W. Lightner, attended a meeting of the Volant borough council Tuesday evening at which a resolution was passed for the improvement of the main street through the borough. If this is approved by the department the improvement will connect up with the New Wilmington-Volant road on the west and the Volant-Leesburg road on the east. The latter road starts near the east end of the bridge over the Neshannock creek. There is still about a half a mile section of the East Brook-Volant road at the Volant end to be improved and an effort is going to be made to have this done as soon as possible.

Union township citizens who are checking up as to the owners of property in the section where a sewer is desired, are about ready to make a canvass of the property owners to secure their signatures to an agreement for the improvement. There is some question as to whether or not it will be necessary to get the signatures of all property owners, or a majority of them. It is believed, however, that all of the property owners will be glad to go along, as the improvement will add greatly to the value of their property, and as an RWD project, the cost will be much less that it will ever be possible to get the work done again.

Directors of the Butler Production Credit association from Lawrence, Allegheny, Armstrong, Jefferson, Clarion, Butler and Beaver counties held their last meeting for the current year at Butler this week. It is through this organization that farmers are able to get loans from the government for the purchase of dairy cows, seed and other agricultural purposes, it being a branch of the federal farm credit system. Secretary L. D. Haag suggests that farmers expecting to need working capital for their next season's operations, make their applications as soon as possible.

County commissioners believe that they have all of the bridges in the county in good shape for the coming winter. During the summer considerable repair work, principally planking, has been done under the direction of Bert Dinsmore. Mr. Dinsmore says that he has been surprised to find how long planks on the few remaining covered bridges have lasted. On one bridge he found planks that had been sawed with the old fashioned upright saws. He estimated them to be at least fifty years old. The secret of their longevity lies in the fact that they never get wet.

Will Ask Probe Of Gas Rates

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Asserting he senses a "smell in the natural gas monopoly more oderiferous than any exposure of the electric power monopoly's activities," Senator Nye (R) of North Dakota, said today he intends to ask the senate to order a sweeping investigation.

The industry, he charged, has been "fattening on the consumers' dollar at rates which are exorbitant and can not be justified. A sound and thorough examination of this situation should result in a reduction of many millions of dollars in the nation's gas bill."

Nye is using as his opening wedge to force a federal inquiry the brief Frank P. Parish filed in Wilmington, Del., chancery court opposing settlement offered to the receivers of the Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line Co.

Mix This At Home In 2 Minutes. No Cooking!

You'll never know how quickly you can conquer a bad cough, in young or old, until you try this famous recipe. You not only make your money go four times as far, but you will also have a much better remedy than any you can buy ready-made.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's no trouble at all. Then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a pint bottle. Add your syrup, and you have a full pint of medicine that will amaze you by its quick action. Fleming High-Point Scorer For Champs

Charles "Red" Fleming Scored 72 Points, Alec Shellogg Is Second With 42

New Castle Scored 148 Points Against 31, Made 127 First Downs To 42

Charles "Red" Fleming the flashy halfback was the high-point man on the New Castle High school "Red Hurricane" championship Class AA W. P. I. A. L. football team, the past season with a total of 72 points, through the medium of 12 touchdowns. Alec Shellogg was second high man with 42 points.

The New Castle team scored a total of 148 points in the 11 games for an average of 13.5 per game, while the opponents scored but 31 points.

A glance at the statistics for the entire season shows that New Castle made 127 first downs to 42 for the opponents, for an average of 11.6 per game. The opponents were held to 3.8 per game.

Three Scoreless Games

New Castle piled up the highest score of the season in the final game of the year against Turtle Creek High, 54 points, with 33 points against Clairton the next highest. For three games New Castle High was held scoreless, a most unusual procedure and one almost foreign to Bridenbaugh teams in the past. Johnstown High with 13 points was the only team that could puncture the New Castle goal line more than once in an afternoon. Butler, Washington and Charleroi were the other teams to score against New Castle.

Four teams on the schedule outpenalized New Castle during the afternoon 40 to 30, Washington 15 to 10, Warren 30 to 20, and New Ken High 25 to 5.

Eight Do Scoring

Rowe And Lasky On Pitt Squad

Francis "Slim" Wainio Out For Pitt Panthers For Third Year

Three former New Castle High greats are now with the Pitt Panther varsity basketball team, and it would not be surprising to see at least two New Castle boys on the first five this year.

Francis "Slim" Wainio, will report for his third year with the Carlson coached team. Wainio has never been able to make the grade as a starting regular, but has been used as a sub for quite some time and has pulled a few games out of the fire, with his accurate shooting. He is expected to give Hughes and Cribbs a tough fight for a starting forward berth. Pete Noon will be the center for the Panthers, and the guards seem to be Roderick and Emerick, with Rowe, Lasky and Kuno having the inside track for the guard jobs also. Rowe, Lasky and Emerick were members of the Pitt Freshies last year and made decided hits.

Handball Tourney Is Started At "Y"

The novice handball tourney has been started at the "Y" and is drawing a lot of interest. The first match of the tourney was played last night with Kakos defeating Dr. Naftulin 21 to 12 and 21 to 15.

The pairings are as follows for the first round of the tourney: Haben vs Martin, Hood vs Gentile, and Levine vs Gennock.

Byes were drawn by Baptiste, DiThomas and Shapiro for the first round. Monday and Friday of this and next week at 7 to 8 o'clock more of the tourney matches will be played, according to Henry MacNicholas, physical director of the Y. M. C. A.

U. S. TO SEND OLYMPIC TEAM

Strong American Team Will Be Entered In Games At Berlin In 1936

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—The United States will send a team, to the Olympic games in Germany in 1936.

Definite confirmation of this will be had at the National A. A. U. meeting in Miami December 7, 8 and 9.

"We have been assured," said this official before leaving for Miami last night, "that Hitler will take particular pains to see that Jewish athletes in Germany are given an even break with the Nazi athletes. Of course, it goes without saying that we shall demand and will receive every courtesy for any Jewish athlete who may be on our town team.

"With such assurances it is a foregone conclusion that our convention will vote to send an American team abroad."

Hatchet Buried

Japan may be fully as anti-American as reported in Washington diplomatic circles, but this did not deter great crowds of Japanese sportsmen from turning out to pay tribute to our own Babe Ruth.

And the A. A. U. has reciprocated by inviting Yoshioka, the great Japanese sprinter, to compete in a series of races against Ralph Metcalfe, our negro champion, and other stars this winter.

Other foreigners who have been invited to compete here are Beccali of Italy, Nielsen of Denmark, Szabo of Hungary and Nye of Sweden.

Athletic Grounds Are Being Built

Workmen Fashioning Running Track, Tennis Courts, At Washington Jr. High

George Washington Junior high school is going to have one of the finest athletic grounds a New Castle school has ever had.

In progress now, as a FERA project, is extensive improvement work. Men are engaged in fashioning a splendid running track, and several tennis courts. The entire grounds are being graded. Landscape work will make the locality a place of great beauty.

In the spring when the students feel a track meet coming on, a May Pole celebration, a tennis or volley ball match, they will have New Castle's very best setting for the sports right at their back door.

The work is making good progress, Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of schools, said today.

Burdick Resigns At Knox College

Record Of 27 Straight Defeats Is Too Much For Former Gridiron Great

(International News Service)

GALESBURG, Ill., Dec. 6—If Knox College is to set a new world's record in football it will have to do it without Coach Lloyd Burdick.

The former University of Illinois star quit his job to join the playing squad of the Detroit Lions, member of the National Pro football league.

His resignation came after a 1934 gridiron season which saw old Siwash tie the world's record with 27 consecutive defeats. Knox failed to score in the last eight games.

Sport Promoters Start To Worry

Boxing, Hockey, and Baseball Needs Changes To Draw Fans Into Arenas

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Broadway's a street where a whisper sometimes speaks louder than a shout elsewhere. Some strange birds make it and they don't have to be all of a feather to flock together.

For instance, here comes Col. John Hammond, behind his distinguished white head to listen to what little Jimmy Johnston has to say. The colonel is prexy of Madison Square Garden, sports center of the world. Jimmy is the Garden's fight matchmaker.

The colonel, with West Point still sticking out all over him even in civvies, contacts society and finance; Jimmy contacts the underworld.

Whispers the colonel: "Something must be done about that man Connie Smythe in Toronto. He's corraled all the fine young hockey players in Canada. Talk about the baseball chain store system—it doesn't hold a candle to the frightful way Smythe has signed up every promising youngster for years to come."

Good Boxers Scarce.

Says Jimmy: "I keep telling you, colonel, we haven't got enough good fighters any more and the ones who can fight want to pick their spots. On top of that we have a crazy boxing commission that intimates its own judges and referees are not all on the level. What would happen to baseball if Judge Landis said the game wasn't on the up and up and hinted that the umpires were fixed?"

Here comes John Chapman, czar of the six day bike grind, and his fat shadow, Harry Mendel. Both all smiles. Says John in his best Georgia drawl: "We're packing 'em in at the Garden this week. Best attendance in years. Bike fans aren't born; they're made. It's an acquired taste, like olives."

May Boost Prices.

Here's Jim Tierney, secretary of the New York Giants. Looks worried. Snarls Jim: "Don't know what's going to happen to baseball this year. We pay city taxes, state taxes and federal taxes. Now the aldermen are threatening to slap a two-cent tax on tickets. That'll mean we'll either have to boost the price a nickel all around or put on a big staff of men to handle penny change.

"If we slap on that nickel the fans will holler. And you can't blame them. They'll be paying something like $50,000 more this year to see the Yanks, Giants and Dodgers. Phooey on politicians."

NO INDEPENDENT BASKETBALL TEAM AT NEW WILMINGTON

NEW WILMINGTON, Dec. 6.—The New Wilmington Merchants, for the past several years, one of the county's fastest hardwood aggregations, will have to be content to play from the stands this year, as a lack of financial support will prohibit the rental of Community Hall for another season.

Neither will the junior teams put an aggregation on the floor this year, as financial difficulties also cause their withdrawal from county athletic circles.

SOCIALIST PARTY MEETING TONIGHT

Socialist party members meet tonight at 105 North Jefferson street, at 7:30 o'clock. Members of the executive and organization committees will discuss important business which has come up. An educational program will follow the business session.

Many people this year will wisely try to decorate their homes for the holidays with substitutes for the old style Christmas greens, since garden clubs everywhere are extending their conservation programs.

Mt. Jackson To Play Bessemer

First County League Game Scheduled For Mt. Jackson Floor Friday Night

Coach Ralph Spears of Mt. Jackson High School announced today that the Mt. Jackson High basketball team would open the 1934-35 floor season Friday night by entertaining the strong Bessemer team at the Mt. Jackson High floor. The Mt. Jackson and Bessemer girls will play the preliminary game starting at 7:45 o'clock.

Three Veterans

Coach Spears has three veterans left from last year to build his team around—Tindall, Bair and Gleghorn. There are 16 on the Mt. Jackson High squad this year and prospects for a winning combination are very bright.

The Mt. Jackson boys will appear in their new uniforms tomorrow night. According to Coach Spears Mt. Jackson High will give the Bessemers a tough battle.

The girls will use the two-court rules in their game, it was announced.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Sammy Crocetti, featherweight in the stable of Jimmie Dime, made quite a hit when he fought a six round draw with Joey Brown of Syracuse at Johnstown, N. Y., recently. The last three rounds of the battle was a slamfest. According to the Evening Recorder of Amsterdam, the decision seemed fair as Sammy outboxed Brown at times and Brown out-punched Sammy at others. According to the writers who had seen Sammy fight amateur battles in that section before he came to this city, he showed considerable improvement and will probably fight there again in the near future.

Coach Frank Thomas of the University of Alabama, has signed a five-year contract, according to reports from Birmingham. It will terminate in 1939 and supercedes Thomas present three-year contract that would expire at the close of the 1935 season. The football banquet last night was the least "break" in training until 'Bama meets Stanford at the Rose Bowl, New Year's day.

Teddy Yarosz, the middleweight champion, will fight Kid Leonard of Moline, Ill., December 14, at Chicago. On the same card will be the sensational Joe Louis of Detroit, who will fight Lee Ramage. The latter are heavyweights. The bout will be promoted by Nate Lewis and Jim Mullen at the Chicago stadium.

The Chinese are at it now, but the Shanghai All-Stars were not good enough to beat the American All-Stars at Shanghai yesterday. The Americans won 22 to 1. Babe Ruth pounded out three home runs. The weather is so cold over there the Babe wore four shirts and flannel underwear and after the game remarked: "It's too cold for an old man."

Tigers To Enter New Floor Loop

It was announced today that the Tigers club will sponsor a fast basketball team in the King Humbert basketball league this year.

The following will play with the Tigers club: Carl "Cacky" Cennock, Hank Nocera, Tippy Richards, Fred Marcella, Benny Ciccone, Edward Gennock, Yanks Marcella, Willie Ciccone, Mike DiMuccio and Tex Richards.

STENGEL WOULD SELL MUNGO FOR SUM OF $300,000

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Casey Stengel, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, has sold Pitcher Art Herring to Sacramento of the Pacific Coast league and if he can improve his club he will even dispose of his ace right-hander, Van Lingle Mungo, Stengel announced today. Stengel qualified this, however, by declaring there was a $300,000 price tag on Mungo.

THE SPORT PATROL

By JOHN J. MAHER, JR.

LISTEN TO THIS

The Prince of Wales is quite an all-around athlete. In school he was a varsity man in soccer and rugby football. In later years he took to polo, riding in steeplechase races, playing squash and tennis, and he can shot an honest 81 on the golf course . . . Marcel Thil, French middleweight champion, got his start in boxing by trading an American doughboy a dozen eggs for a pair of boxing gloves . . . In 1932, more than 200 golf balls were found piled into a hollow tree by squirrels on the Bigwin Inn (Canada) golf course. Every ball was chewed and unfit for play . . . If any of you are thinking about getting up a polo team you can figure $7,832 per player on your budget. That's the average cost of equipment. Of course, you can go higher if you wish. Laddie Sanford paid $22,000 for a pony alone—Jupiter was its name.

Big Bill Tilden, who can look back on seven National championships, was rated as an unconquered Davis cup player until 1927 . . . Ki Ki Cuyler, Cub outfielder, breaks an average of 50 bats a year . . . The real name of Benny Bass, the fighter, is Benjamin Basseches . . . Alphonse (Tuffy) Leemans, George Washington university's star halfback comes from the same town as Ernie Nevers; Allouez, Wisconsin . . . The Barracuda is the fastest fish; it can swim at a speed of 80 miles per hour . . . It costs about $1,500 a head to take the Ryder cup golf team to England . . . Sam Langford was the greatest fighter that ever lived, according to Jack Johnson . . . It is estimated that there are about 500,000 baseball players engaged in pro, semi-pro, college, and amateur competition every year in the United States . . . There was a time when Jack Dempsey really considered becoming a wrestler.

Harry Grabiner, who hands out the salary envelopes to the Chicago Whitesox players, always insists that the boys put in a personal appearance before him to receive their pay checks When the team is finding it difficult to win ball games, which is usually the case (season of 1919 excepted), they say Harry hands out checks like there was glue on his fingers . . . The United States Lawn Tennis association allows $12 a day for expenses to each player represented on Davis cup teams . . . Back in the '80's baseball players wore uniforms of different colors to distiguish them. The score cards of those days told the uniform combinations . . . $116,000 was spent to feed 1,000 horses at a race meeting at Narragansett park this year . . . Ira Plank, famous old Philadelphia pitcher, has coached baseball at Gettysburg college for 22 years.

When Don Miller, coach of a Louisville high school football team, was introduced to a state senator recently as Mr. Miller, one of the Four Horsemen, the senator replied: "I certainly enjoyed that movie." . . . It is claimed that Charlie Bachman, now football coach at Michigan State, helped Ray Eichenlaub to gain all-American honors while the two were teammates at Notre Dame back in 1914. Bachman played guard on offense and fullback on defense. Both were of the same build and when in their football uniforms couldn't be told apart, from the stands. Numbering of players hadn't been adopted yet so it was a natural mistake to have Eichenlaub praised for his sterling work on the defense when it was really Bachman that was doing the defensive fullbacking . . . Tod Sloan, immortal jockey, received a fee of $25,000 when he returned from England in 1900 to ride W. C. Whitney's Ballyboo Boy to victory in the Belmont Futurity.

If you are a small woman and are buying a fur-trimmed coat, better choose one with flat fur trimming. If you are tall, however, and want a coat that will last, a simple, straight coat with long haired fur, may be your best bet.

Church League Games Friday

Three Fast Games Billed In Church Basketball Loop For Friday Night

NEWT CAMPBELL KEEPING RECORDS

Three fast games are billed for Friday night at the "Y" floor in the New Castle church basketball league. The first game will start at 8 o'clock, according to Henry MacNicholas, physical director of the "Y" and league supervisor.

Sacred Hearts may run into a surprise tomorrow night at the hands of the Tefereth Israel team, with the Jewish boys rarin' to get started on the win column. The Epworth and First Christian battle will be one of interest as both teams came through with victories in the opening of the league.

The third game will find the powerful St. Michaels team, with "Jake" Babovsky at the helm, meeting the strong First M. E. team in what should prove a high class engagement.

Campbell Keeps Records.

Newt Campbell, well known local sportsman, has been engaged to keep the records of the league this year and today submitted the following hot off the books records of the leading scorers in both the church and Sunday school leagues. Similar records will appear each week.

Lang And Ammons Get Mountain Goat

For the first time in the history of local hunters who have gone in quest of deer, a mountain goat was shot and brought back to the city. The mountain goat had had one horn shot away and it took two shots to bring it down in Warren county, about 15 miles from the New York state line.

Adolf Lang sent one bullet through the goat and Earl Ammons sent another. Tommy O'Brien and Jimmy Snyder were also in the hunting party.

Strength In Copper And Farm Implement Shares Offsets Pressure From Profits

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Strength in copper and farm implement shares featured a generally mixed stock market today. The rest of the list was under considerable pressure from traders taking profits on yesterday's advance.

Deere was the favorite in the farm implement group with a gain of about a point on a large turnover. J. I. Case and International Harvester also were strong.

The copper shares, laggards in the recent advance, turned strong under the leadership of Kennecott and Anaconda, where fractional gains were scored.

Realizing was most pronounced in the railroad shares were Atchison, New York Central, Southern Railway and Southern Pacific were moderately lower.

Utilities presented a fairly firm front under the leadership of Consolidated Gas which rose fractionally. While there was some profit taking in the group, the selling appeared to be absorbed rather easily.

United States Steel, and other industrial shares as well as the motors were inclined to be rather dull around their previous closing levels.

Oils marked time as did chemicals, while aviations were slightly more active and higher.

OFFICE WINS FROM MECHANICAL, 22-15

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 6—A well organized and conditioned Cold Draw quintet turned on the steam in the last quarter to win a decisive 23-14 victory over the defending champions, Finishing, as the Shelby inter-department basketball league swung into action Tuesday evening at the Shelby auditorium.

It was a good close defensive game for three quarters. The score was deadlocked at 4 all in the first stanza, 6-4 for the Finishing at halftime, 14-12 for the Cold Draw at the end of the third quarter. Finishing was held to one basket in the final period.

In the second game of the evening the Office started out slowly but picked up momentum as the game progressed. They trailed the Mechanical 9-6 at half-time. Gil Boone finally got to clicking in the second half in which he caged six field goals to secure a victory.

Death Stalks Modern Eden

SOLVE MYSTERY OF DEATHS ON ISLAND

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6.—Death today was revealed as stalking the modern eden of the Pacific on Charles Island of the mysterious and little known Galapagos group.

Radio messages from Capt. G. Allan Hancock, Los Angeles scientist-explorer, received at his offices here, from the cruiser Velero III, on which Hancock is taking a party of Smithsonian Institution scientists to the island, solved the mystery of the death of two men on lonely Marchena Island of the Galapagos.

The radio also announced the death of Dr. Frederick Ritter, German scientist, who went into a self-imposed exile on the islands with his common law wife, Frau Dore Strauch Koerwein.

At the same time it was revealed Baroness Bosquet Von Wagner, self-termed empress of the islands and her friend, Robert Phillipson have been missing from the islands for more than five months and are believed to have perished.

Capt. Hancock, forsaking his beloved science long enough to turn detective, definitely identified the bodies found on Marchena Island some weeks ago as those of Alfred Rudolph Lorenz, once close friend of the baroness, who accompanied her to the islands, and Trygve Nuggerruud, a Norwegian sailor.

With Lorenz and Nuggeruud perished a native, in the belief of Capt. Hancock, although the body was never found.

Residents of the islands, Arthur Wittmer and his wife and two children, and Frau Koerwein, told the dramatic tale of the tragedy of the Galapagos to the scientists.

The heavy gals must be steadier on their feet. You never see one sprain an ankle and need carrying.
